South Orange, New Jersey

The Gale Construction Company is providing Construction Management Services for the 27,000 square foot renovation and additions to the Congregation Beth El Temple and Pre-School in South Orange, NJ. The work includes the addition of a new main entrance, a chapel, and public restrooms. A new two-story space will be constructed within the auditorium and will house the new kitchen and an office on the first level, and two additional classrooms on the second level. The basement level will also receive considerable renovations to provide a better multi-functional use for the pre-school as well as other congregation events. The Gale Construction Company will also provide a new three-level elevator, handicapped lift, and new interior finishes throughout.

Only portions of the building can be vacated at any one time during construction. Therefore, a phased construction schedule will be used to accommodate the client's needs.
